

Detroit Public Schools K-12 Student Personal-Information Web Release

Certain federal and state laws govern privacy and release of information in schools. The U.S. Family Educational Right to Privacy Act (FERPA) defines parent and student rights to access student records, and protects the privacy of student records. FERPA says that "directory information" relating to a student includes the following: student's name, address, telephone listing, date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of members of athletic teams, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, and the most recent previous educational agency or institution attended by the student. Schools must give parents notice before publishing such information and allow a reasonable amount of time for parents to request that the information NOT be disclosed. They may not release any other information about the student without parental consent.
